American Heritage Time Use Study (AHTUS)

Codebook

Kimberly Fisher, Evrim Altintas, and Jonathan Gershuny
(University of Oxford, UK)

With contributions from
Muriel Egerton, Nuno Torres, Andreas Pollmann (University of Essex, UK)
Roger Patulny (University of New South Wales, Australia)
John Robinson (University of Maryland) and Anne H. Gauthier (University of Calgary)

26 January 2014

Purpose of codebook

This codebook gives an overview of the data harmonized in the American Heritage Time Use Study (AHTUS) project. This document details the contents of the data files, brief instructions on how to use the data, a details on the surveys harmonised to make this dataset.